

charitable tax deduction, a charitable estate tax deduction and an everlasting legacy to the Dayton Region.

Types of life income plans include:

• Charitable Gift Annuity. In exchange for your gift, you and/or your other designated individuals will receive fixed income for life, part of which is treated as tax-free return of principle. You also receive an immediate income tax deduction for the gift. After the last beneficiary dies, any remaining amount will be deposited into your charitable fund at the Foundation.

• Charitable Remainder Trust. Your gift is placed in a trust that pays annual income to you or another designated individual for the trust's term. The remaining gift amount is used to establish a charitable fund of your choice at the Foundation. You gain significant tax benefits over the term of the trust and decrease the size of your taxable estate.

• Charitable Lead Trust. A lead trust can be used to build your charitable fund at the Foundation over time, while providing an income tax, gift tax or estate tax charitable deduction in the year it is funded. At the end of the trust's term, the balance is transferred to you or to the individual(s) you have named.

All of these options can be used alone or in combination with each other to establish a current or future charitable fund.

Ways You Can Give Now

• Checks or Credit Cards. Gifts using checks or credit cards are the most direct way to give and are fully deductible up to 60 percent of your Adjusted Gross Income (AGI). Amounts given over and above this limit can be carried forward and deducted for up to five years beyond the year you make your gift.

• Appreciated Securities. You may receive a charitable deduction for the full fair market value of long-term capital gains assets that you contribute, such as stocks and mutual funds held for more than one year. Since the Foundation liquidates the securities, you pay no tax on the sale, and the full value of your gift is available to support your charitable interests.

• IRA Rollover Assets. If you are age 70-1/2 or older and must take a required minimum distribution from your IRA, you can transfer up to $100,000 (or $200,000 if married with two separate IRAs) to a new fund at the Foundation and not have it show as income for tax purposes.

• Real Estate. Real estate gifts, such as your home, farm or vacation property, entitle you to a charitable income tax deduction up to the full fair market value of the property, not to exceed 30 percent of your AGI. Plus, you avoid paying any capital gains tax on the property's appreciated value.

• Other Tangible Personal Property. Gifts of personal property, such as works of art, collectibles or jewelry, may offer beneficial charitable deductions. Contact the Foundation's Development staff to discuss making this type of gift arrangement.

Legacy Gifts – Planned and Deferred Gift Vehicles

The Dayton Foundation offers a variety of ways to help you establish a plan for giving to charity after your lifetime. Gift giving options include outright gifts, as well as plans that provide income for life, either for you or another designated beneficiary.

Outright Gift Options

• Life Insurance. Gifting a life insurance policy that is no longer needed or taking out a new policy is a perfect option to establish a future charitable fund or to make an outright gift to the Foundation. You earn an immediate tax deduction approximately equal to the policy's replacement cost or current cash value, and any additional premiums that you pay are deductible.

• Bequest. Bequests through your will are one of the most effective methods of providing for your favorite charities, while enabling you to retain the use of your assets or property during your lifetime. Several types of bequests are available to you, including designating a specific dollar amount, a percentage of your estate or the remaining property after all other obligations are fulfilled.

• Retirement Plan Assets. You can designate The Dayton Foundation as the beneficiary of your IRA or other retirement plans. Retirement plans are ideal for charitable giving, because they are more heavily taxed than other estate assets and can significantly reduce your estate tax liability. This can allow you to give more to your heirs and to the charities you care about the most.

• Life Estate Remainder Interest. You can gift your home, farm or vacation property to the Foundation and retain the right to use the property during your lifetime, after which it is sold by the Foundation. You benefit from an immediate tax deduction in the year that the gift arrangement is made.
